Description :

Prsentation de l'diteur[Jack Handler Series] is an intense thrill ride!! Michael Carrier's character Jack Handler is a retired Chicago detective who keeps finding himself suspenseful situations. I seriously couldn't put this book down!!! Definitely a must read for those who enjoy David Baldacci, James Patterson and Michael Connelly. Being a Michigander, I loved that this book is based in the UP. When is the next Jack book coming out? Mario What People are saying about the Getting to Know Jack seriesMove over James Patterson and David Baldacci Michael Carrier is the newest great suspense author!!!Finally there is a new author who will challenge the likes of Michael Connelly and David Baldacci. In this latest mystery, Sugar Island (in Michigan's beautiful Upper Peninsula) is used as a fitting backdrop to the wild action. It is a fast-paced thriller that you won't want to put down until the final page. Island Books Full of twists and turns. If you like James Patterson, you'll enjoy all of Michael Carrier's novels in the Getting to Know Jack series.

These riveting thrillers will keep you turning pages all the way to the shocking end. Cascade Writer's Group A good read. I thoroughly enjoyed it, and kept coming back to it whenever I had the free time. The characters were really good. Connelly and Baldacci should approve. If you like James Patterson and Michael Connelly, you'll love Michael Carrier. Carrier has proven that he can hang with the best of them (seriously- we're talking Patterson and Connelly) with his newest book. It has all of the great, edge-of-your-seat action and suspense that you'd expect in a good thriller, and it kept me guessing to the very end.

Fantastic read with an awesome detective duo I couldn't put it down! Can't wait to read the next one! by Katie I like to read Michael Connelly and James Patterson. When I saw Michael Carrier's book suggested with my favorite authors, I decided to give him a read. Best decision. [This book] is not really like anything else I have ever read much better. I really like James Patterson and David Baldacci. I'm not going to say who's [my favorite writer now], but it just might become this author. Highly recommended. GGCA

At first I thought the story jumped around a little too much. And then I remembered the great Russian writers, Tolstoy in particular. Something like a Michael Connelly story. Lindsay At last there is a top-rated true murder mystery on the market without a lot of vulgarity. This is one action mystery you can recommend to anyone -- even your teenagers. The twists and turns keep you turning the pages long after you should move on to other things. With the short chapters, you can read a few, then put it down without losing your place, but you won't want to. I believe this is the best murder mystery on the market. Hollywood should definitely look at this one! Congratulations to Michael Carrier on this next chapter in the Jack Handler series -- When's the next one coming? Don't read it at the beach or you are sure to get sunburned- I did. I loved the characters Biographie de l'auteur Even while in high school, Michael Carrier never had a doubt that he would become a writer of fiction. When, as a journalism student in college, his professor required him to write his own obituary, he wrote that when he turned fifty years of age he would begin his first novel. The professor was not pleased that Michael wanted to delay his career, and so challenged the rationale. Michael simply told him that he would not start writing fiction until he had accumulated a rich inventory of life experiences. As planned, at age fifty Michael determined to begin writing his first novel, Jack and the New York Death Mask (published 2010). He has since published two more thrillers. His second novel, Murder on Sugar Island (July 2013), tells a story about a Sugar Island resort owner who is gunned down on the bank of the St. Marys River. Michael has since completed his third novel, Superior Peril (November 2013). It also takes place in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Michael holds a Master of Arts degree from NYU, and has done an additional two years of postgraduate work at the University of Pennsylvania's Dropsie College of Hebrew and Cognate Learning in Philadelphia. As far as his accumulation of experiences, Michael has at different times in his life driven truck, hustled pool from Texas to Montana, traveled the country hitchhiking, spent five years in Greenwich Village (East Side), delivered diamonds in New York's diamond district (disguised as a down-and-outer), tended bar in a New York nightclub, climbed many water towers throughout the west, skydived, toiled in a publishing house as a content editor, and worked for over two decades in private security. One of his favorite hobbies is creating intricate puzzles. Since 1992 he has from time to time assumed the persona of Mountain Mike. As this character, he hides a treasure (which is a ten dollar bill) somewhere in Michigan. He then publishes weekly puzzles that contain clues as to the location of the treasure. Currently Michael lives with his wife in a house on Lake Superior. The house is located just west of Whitefish Point, in a town called Paradise. His list of favorites (in addition to writing thrillers): Drinking a doppio con pana at a good coffee shop Surveying caves Dining at a Ruth Crist Exploring the UP, New York City, or Paris Writing an inscrutable puzzle Watching Elementary (the TV show) a second time His all-time favorite authors: Tolstoy and Dostoevsky
